HOLLOWAY'S PILLS & OINTMENT. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

I HIS Medicine is universally admitted to be the most efficacious remedy known to the world. No preparation is so suitable to the climates of India and China as this fine and invigorating medicine. It is particularly adapted to the constitution of European ladies, as it is never failing in its effects in all diseases peopliar to females. while those who are attenuated by the debilitating effects of the above climates will find in this wonderful remedy a kind of talisman whereby they may insure a restoration to robust health.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

The science of Medicine has never before produced any remedy that can be compared to this wonderful Ointment, as it cares after all other means have failed, all wounds, sores, ulcers, and also the most inveterate skin diseases peculiar to the climates of India and China It is the true friend of the Soldier and Civilian, as certain old sores can be removed by it that Hongkong, February 1, 1867.

THE "TREATY PORTS OF CHINA & JAPAN," AND "NOTES AND QUERIES ON CHINA AND JAPAN." EXTRACTS FROM REVIEWS.

(From the "Straits Times," July 27, 1868.) Some time ago we had occasion to remark upon the progress that Literature as represented by the Press had made and was making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the receipt of a Hongkong publication which deserves some notice and which we have Commissioner of Customs in the name and ledge of our readers. We allude to Notes and Queries on thing and Japan, published monthly by Mr Saint, the proprietor of the China Mail newspaper. This publication is well printed on good paper, and in size and shape is very like its well-known namesake or prototype at home, and is equally a mine containing very curious and useful information regarding the language, literature, history, manners and customs of the Chinese and in a less degree of the Japanese. It says a good deal! for the extent and stability of the footing of Europeans in China, that such a publication as this should be established and conducted with apparently successful vigour.

The publication is altogether a very interesting one, and wishing it every success, we commend it to the attention and support of our readers. (From the "Friend of India," June 4, 1868.)

We acknowledge with thanks the receipt the numbers for the current year of "Notes and Queries," a most deserving Angle-Chinese monthly, edited by Mr N. B. Dennys, whose "Treaty Ports of China and Japan" are so well known. From the names attached to the "Notes" we can see that the contributors include some of the best Chinese scholars in the East. Its interest is not confined to China, and it will be of valuable assistance to all scholars, who have directed their attention towards the subject of Buddhism and its literature, and generally to all who are interested in oriental antiquities. It deserves to be better known in India.

(From the "London Examiner," May 16, 1868.)

This really useful volume ["Treaty Ports China and Japan"] is intended as a guide for travellers and residents in China. and Japan, and as a book of reference for mercantile men generally. It contains an account, historical and political, of all the open ports of these countries, together with Peking, Yedo, Hongkong, and Macao: It has been carefully compiled and edited by Mr. N. B. Dennys; and the elaborate maps and plans, with which the work abounds, We have thus given in outline some of the more prominent portions of the chapter devoted to Canton, as a specimen of the whole volume. Other chapters treating of Hundred Taels by the authorities to whose the remainder of the treaty ports, we can only enumerate. THE STORY OF THE "SNUB." Although the home papers have given insertion to four of the principal despatches published in othe China Blue Books on Formosa No. 3, and following, the whole story is by no means before the public, for the simple reason that, though everybody may buy them, their uninteresting character is so generally taken for granted that few avail themselves of the | would be regarded by any Government, the chance. opinion to Sir R. Alcock :-Rash and inexcusable as Mr Gibson's proceedings would, under any circumstances, have been, they would be doubly so if your despatch was in his hands when, on the 20th of November, he called upon the Lieutenant commanding Her Majesty gun-vessel Algerine to make reprisals, by seizing and holding Fort Zelandia and the town of Amping. You will learn from the enclosed copies of correspondence between this office and the Admiralty the view taken by Her Majesty's Government of the measures by which Mr Gibson's requisition was carried into effect. The Board of Admiralty will. of course, deal with their own officers; but as regards Mr Gibson, I have to instruct you to convey to him my unqualified disapproval of his conduct, whether acting without having received your instructions of the 29th of October, or in neglect of

It is quite clear that Mr Gibson is wholly unfit to be entrusted with any discretionary power, or to be placed in any other than a situation where he will be constantly under the superintendence and control of a superior Consular officer on the spot. His proper office is that of Interpreter, and you will be careful not to place under his charge the superintendence, even temporary, of a Consulate or Vice-Consulate, for the duties of which judgment, tact, discretion, or moderation are essential requisites. I need scarcely say that under no circumstances must be be allowed to remain in Formosa; and I only hope that the judgment thus passed on his conduct will produce a salutary impression throughout the Consular service in China, and serve as a warning to all persons employed in it, that Her Majesty's Government will visit with the severest condemnation acts of violence wantonly undertaken and carried out without the express sanction of Her Majesty's

Then follows the correspondence between the Admiralty and Admiral Keppel, in which the operations in Formosa are distinctly condemned as a matter of policy, though their Lordships express their sense of the great gallantry and skill displayed. Mr Walker, a boatswain, is promoted in consequence, but Lieut. Gurdon is passed by. Next we have a full and sensible account of the proceedings in Formosa by Mr Matheson of the Presbyterian Foreign Missions Committee. He trusts that Earl Clarendon will Reconsider the probable consequences of tendering an apology to men utterly unable to appreciate it, and for conduct which, although open to censure in the light of the new instructions, has nevertheless, in connection with the firm attitude of Her Majesty's Minister in Peking, contributed to the gratifying fact stated by your Lordship that our relations with China have never been more satisfactory.

We then come to number 16 (enclosure 2), in which, under date of 28th January, 1869. Sir R. Alcock writes as follows to Sir H. Keppel. After quoting Prince Kung's despatch, complaining of the Vice-Consul and Lieutenant, he proceeds: It cannot be denied, nevertheless, that any actual hostilities entered into by Mr Gibson and the Commander of the gun-boat Rev. Lo Sam, Yuen. Afternoon 3 o'clock. leading to loss of life are greatly to be regretted, and can hardly be defended under any conceivable circumstances. The precipitation of the officers temporarily in charge, the one of the Consulate and the other of the gunboat, has rendered unavailing all the care and the concerted measures agreed upon between your Excellency and myself to bring matters to a satisfactory settlement, without the necessity of any recourse to force by the appearance of a squadron, under a Senior Officer of high rank, support ing the demands of Mr Swinhoe, confirmed and approved from Peking after conference with the Foreign Board on the subject. I had every reason to calculate with certainty on the mere presence of imposing and effective force, sufficing, as in the Yang-chow affair, to secure the result without any collision, or the adoption of measures constituting an act of war. An embargo of vessels, or a simple blockade of a very partial and temporary kind, was the utmost stretch of coercive power that contemplated as likely to be needful under the most adverse circumstances, and these are measures recognized by international law as acts of retortion vii facti, that States may legitimately resort to under given circumstances, and which, nevertheless, fall short of war, and are not considered acts of hostility. Property, even if wrongly seized under embargo, may be restored and redress afforded by negotiation or civil process, but acts of hostility involving loss of life are not so easily repaired or defendd, and fall under a totally different law. * * * The Prince of Kning writes to me not unnaturally, to make a very indignant protest; for apart from the feelings with which a sudden act of war (such as the Memorialists describe, where life is lost, and an insult is offered at the same time to the sovereignty of an independent power). To our next extracts from a despatch from Sir R. Alcock to Lord Stanley, un. der date of 5th February, we direct particular attention. The Minister, briefly recapitulates the facts and proceeds am paturally, very, reluctant to pronounce any harsh judgment against junior officers, either civil or military, who have erred by the excess of zeal and impatience rather than any deliberate design of exceeding their powers. Nor have I yet learned in answer to my despatch to Mr Swinhoe. what Mr Gibson may be able to state in further justification of his apparently rash and unauthorised proceedings, It is possible there may have been reasons not yet before me, and imminent danger to life and property, which suggested the steps taken as the only ones available for security. Mr Gibson's strange phraseology may cover some such peril. But so far as, any statement of facts yet received goes, I am bound to say this conclusion is not borne out. At the same time, it must be borne in Clarendon to Sir R. Alcock :nind that in Formore, an island manual by aborigines, who to this day both kill and eat their enemies, with thousands of Chinese colonists only a few degrees more civilized or less savage, under the government of local officials who are so little above a state of barbarism themselves that they had no scrupie in placing an ambuscade of armed men to intercept and kill a Consul and naval officer proceeding to the Magis trate's place of residence on a peaceful mission, and thought the best mode of preventing a merchant from recovering property of which he had been despoiled, was to send people to shoot him down—there is enough in such conditions to demoralize all diplomsoy. If not to justify a resort to reprisals and acts of hestility not contemplated by Vattel. The tension of mind under constant menace of danger from the lawless action of Chinese officials bound by no obligations of international comity or Treaty, is eminently calculated to mislead

a junior officer and throws him off his balance : and it would be hard, and scarcely just to visit upon his head the whole responsibility of the consequences. receive from the Prince of Kung a strongly- | QUADRILLE. . At the same time I deemed it right to point out to his Highness, for the information of the Emperor and his Council, that. however I might deplore any action which had led to a serious loss of life, the chief blame, if not all the responsibility, rested on those who, by a persistent violation Treaties, repeated acts of violence, and denial of justice, making life and property insecure, had rendered a collision almost inevitable; and that the real authors of this regrettable occurrence were the High Officers of Fukien and Chekiang, in no carrying out their instructions received from the Yamen to remove the Taoutae and afford redress. Had they done so, no co lision or conflict would-have taken place. * * It is my purpose, when in a position to answer these complaints more fully. return to this feature of the case, and fix them with the responsibility of disobeyin their orders, and thus provoking a conflict which might and would otherwise undoubt edly have been averted:

The charge against the local authorities can be fully sustained by evidence of violence and injustice of a flagrant character on the part of the Chinese officials, which the last nine months preceding has conti nuously supplied; and, in addition, it wil be easy to show that, whatever may be the desire of the two Governments to live in peace and maintain none but the most friendly relations with each other, such results are not possible if the Provincia Authorities are allowed not only systematically to violate the most important of Treaty rights and palpably connive at acts of spelation and murder, such as have character. ized the course of affairs at Formosa almost from the beginning, and with increasing frequency and strocity during the past year, but to disregard the orders sent to them from Peking after engagements have been entered into with a Foreign Minister. I is. in truth, clear that the Central Government must find means to compel a greater espect for their own orders on the part of heir local Authorities throughout the Provinces, wherever foreigners are found, or foreign Powers will be driven to one of two alternatives in self defence. They must either devise such local means of pressure as shall control and coerce malfaisant and corrupt officials into good behaviour, or hold the Imperial Government responsible for unredressed wrongs at the ports and elsewhere in a much more direct and stringent manner than has yet been the practice as general rule. The action, consequent upon the conduct of local authorities at Canton and Takow, which led to the three wars, were exceptions; and as regards the last what took place at Takow could not be of the Government itself. Nothing could be better than the general tenor of this language, if Sir R.

Alcock would only "stick to it." tel appears as enclosure 13 in Number of the sick man; but as deceased had of baccy, pipes, and matches, and took out 18, dated 16th January, 1869, It tells the story from the Chinese point of view Without materially altering the facts, but Grey. As a comtreachery were our characteristics, while an independent and safe version of their rade said that he saw the prisoner (the lamb-like docility, courtesy, and good several movements in the matter; and the shopman) pick up the three coins, the case temper were those of the Chinese officials.

I ought to mention, that up to the date of the last despatches from Formosa, the 6th of January. Mr. Swinhoo, was still Takao, giving his advice and assistance to Gibson, although he had declined taking charge. Everything seemed to be proceeding very satisfactorily. The chie criminal in the murder of the catechist had been executed; various other offenders had been identified and punished; all the sums claimed in compensation for the merchants and missionaries had been paid into Mr Gibson's bands in full; and a satisfactory Proclamation denouncing all offenders against the missionaries or foreigners generally, had been issued; as also another, distinctly relinquishing all right to continue a camphor monopoly, one point alone did there seem any question in carrying out, the engagements entered into, and that was the removal of Lang Shuh-tseun, the Che-hien, who had been inculpated in the past maladministration of affairs. If the means adopted by Mr. Gibson were somewhat sharp and unauthorized, it would seem that they were, at all events, eminently successful, and brought all our dif ficulties, with both authorities and people, to a very swift and satisfactory termination, while nine months had been wasted in previous futile efforts by negotiation and

The blacksmith, who stood charged the Magistracy, was of course liberated this morning, the charge having been with drawn; but it might become a question if the barbarous usages of Chinese can ever be affected for the better if cases such as these begin and end like a burlesque. Usage similar to that narrated by the witnesses in the present case, if applied to a manzy cur, would come under the cognisance and action of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals at home; but here in Hongkong, a Coroner, three Jurymen, and even a Magisterial Court find nothing to say against such proceedings, or if they do say anything, there is no action taken to show in any effectual way our entire disapproval of this course of things. "Any of the military coming down?" inquires some one in the growd. "Oh yes!" answers his gallant friend, "I suppose so. We've only had two fires and three night alarms this week, and it will never do for us to draw our magnificent pay for nothing," with which burst of sarcasm the "galloper" rams the spurs in, and his horse's hoofs are heard clattering on the hard road back to Camp. Despi e the exertions of the Japanese fire-brigade, the flames get the better of them, and house after house is given up to their fury. Nothing seems able to check them, and you are perhaps beginning to get rather tired of looking on at a game where one side has it all its own way, when a little additional interest if imparted to thescene by the arrival of as company from the Camp.

A FRENCH paper says that the widow of Philippe Jacques Wilhelm, late of the 88th Regiment of the Line, and shoemaker, has just died at Strasbourg at the ripe old age of eighty four. When Napoleon I. married the Archduchess Maria Louisa, he issued a decree, in his own military and absolute fashion, that 6,000 soldiers who had earned half-pay should be married to girls in their respective communes, and he fixed the dowry of the young ladies at 1,200 francs in Paris, and 600 france elsewhere. At Strasbourg, ten of these marriages took place; all the authorities of the town were present, the newly-married couples were invited to the theatre, gloves, bouquets, and carriages were furnished by the municipality. In the evening there was a banquet, at which the Emperor and his new Austrian wife were toasted. Of the ten girls married on April 23, 1819, Widow Wilhelm was the last survivor. His Majesty had a wonderful taste for making marriages, and at one time he conceived the idea of taking every heiress in the country for his most distinguished officers. which would have been an economical way of recompensing gallantry.

ROMANTIO MURDER AND SUICIDE IN PARIS An incident has just occurred in Paris he details of which, as related by the French papers, appear better suited to form the plot of a highly-spiced sensations frama than to be accepted as actual facts We translate almost literally :- 'A worthy lerk possessed a most charming wife amiable, witty, virtuous, her beauty added grace to these qualities. One fault only. and as her excuse it must be admitted that it had been encouraged by her husband she indulged to excess her Parisien instinct. her love for dress. Her husband was Thick proud of her, and took her out a great deal a society, chiefly in the official circles; but notwithstanding this gaiety her days were Though nvariably spent in the education of her children. Indeed, had she lived in other times Penelope would have found a dangerous rival. This, however, did not hinder the love of a youthful Crossus. His Throw advances met with a scornful rebuff. Orcesus, however, had some knowledge of women; he did not despair, he held his | Tidings peace, and waited, But he had powerful illies, and soon the milliner; the dressmaker, the proprietor of hired broughams, Time &c., began a persistent and fatal attack on the tranquillity of the household. Yet Timid wife the husband nor the wife had the courage to reduce their expenditure. Thus whole year was allowed to pass. Then it Tobacco became no longer possible to hold out, Here was the moment for the youthful Tooth Crossus to reappear on the scene. One day the young lady, till then the pure wife. left his house hiding under her cloak a Toss purse in which were bank, notes to the value of 500,000 france (£20,000). Up to this point the tale is stale in the extreme. It | Toy is but a mild repetition of an everyday occurrence in Paris society. Here only begins the peculiarities of this drama. The young woman, tormented by her debts. maddened, without hope, was dazzled by Travel the enormous figure of five hundred thousand francs. It was a fortune, it was tranquillity for life, and-for who can read the depth of female calculations?—a future for her children. In All this in exchange for one unique fault, which for ever should remain secret. She had yielded. Her first im-

oulse after her fall was one of joy. She Trust ran and paid all her debts. These were covered with fifty thousand francs. then, and then only, the horror of the situation dawned upon her. What was to be done with the four hundred and fifty thousand francs remaining? She could not invest them without the sanction of her husband, or entrust any one with them, for it would have been necessary to confide her fault. Her powers were null. She could not, even little by little, spend the money. That would have excited suspicion. She was compelled to hide them in her room, at the bottom of her drawers-and then what anxiety ! Her husband, as well | Unanimous as herself, had the keys of the furniture, and he frequently sought out different: things. At any moment hazard might Understaning reveal all. The young lady at last hid them between her blankets, then in the Unbappy kitchen, then under the boarding of the dining-room floor. Her mind in perpetual agony, she fell into a mournful despon- Unlocked dency, and refused to take food. At last, one day, she became stark mad. Then in frenzy she seized her husband, dragged him to the dining-room, and, pointing to the board, commanded him to dig there. Urgent Obeying the husband found the bank

THE PERFECTION OF PREPARED COCOA

Sole Proprietors-TAYLOR BROTHERS.

THE COCOA (or CACAO) of MARAVILLA is the. true THEOBROMA of LINNEUS. Cocos is indigenous to South America, of which Maravilla is a favoured portion. TAYLOR BROTHERS having secured the exclusive supply of this unrivalled Cocoa have, by the skilful application of their soluble: principle and elaborate machinery, produced what is so undeniably the perfection of prepared Cocoa, that it has not only secured the preference of homosopaths and cocoa-drinkers generally, but many who had bitherto not found any preparation to suit them. have, after one trial, adopted the Maravilla Cocoa as their constant beverage for breakfast, luncheon, &c.

"A SUGGESS UNPRECEDENTED." See following Extract from the Globe of

May 14, 1868. "Various importers and Manufacturers have attempted to attain a reputation for their prepared Cocoas, but we doubt whether any thorough success had been achieved until Messre Taylor Brothers discovered the extraordinary qualities of "Maravilla Cocea. Adapting their perfect system of preparation to this finest of all species of the Theobroma, they have produced an article which supersedes every other Cocoa in the market. Entire solubility, delicate aroma, and a rare concentration of the purest elements of nutrition, distinguish, the Maravill Cocoa above all others. For Homosopaths and invalids we could not recommend a more agreeable or valuable beverage.

Sold in packets only by all Grocers, of whom also may be had Taylor Brothers Original HOMEOPATHIC COCOA and SOLUBLE CHOCOLATE.

BISHOP'S

Granular Effervescent Citrate

MAGNESIA. Introduced and prepared by ALFRED BISHOP,

Manufacturing Chemist, 17 & 18, Speck's Fields, Mile End, New Town. London.

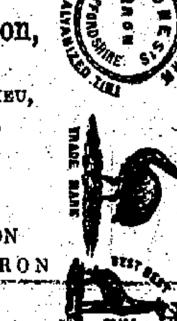

THIS perfectly white and delicately clean granulated preparation possesses remarkable effervescent qualities, which far surpasses the ordinary Seidlitz Powder in its cooling, refreshing, and mild aperient properties, as well as in its flavour as saline draught. It is particularly well adapted for women and young children, on account of its most agreeable flavour and mild effect. N.B -The genuine has the name of BISHOP upon the bottle, also the Name and Trade Mark upon Label, and is sold in convenient sizes, and secured in so perfect a manner that it may be shipped with safety to any part of the world. Manufacturer also of Granulated and Effervescent Carbonate of Iron, Citrate of Iron, Citrate of Quinine, Citrate of Quinine and Iron, Carbonate of litz Mixture, and all other Granulated Preparations.

Lithia in Tubes, Citrate of Lithia, Vichy Salt, Seid-IN CHANGERY,—CAUTION.—BISHOP'S GRANULAR EFFERVESORNT CITRATE OF MAGNESIA. - Mr. Bishop, having discovered that the Label which he had used for the last five years was being imitated recently applied to the Court of CHANCERY for an INJUNCTION, to restrain such imitation. The Injunction was immediately granted, and the Defendant was ordered to pay all Mr. Bishop's Costs and destroy the Labels complained of.
